6. Learning to Classify Text. Detecting patterns is a central part of Natural Language Processing. Words ending in -ed tend to be past tense verbs (Frequent use of will is indicative of news text ()). These observable patterns — word structure and word frequency — happen to correlate with particular aspects of meaning, such as tense and topic.

6.1 Introduction. DNA analysis is, after immunofluorescence, the second most important application of flow cytometry. By measuring the DNA content of individual cells, we obtain information about their ploidy (see Section 6.3), of particular relevance in tumours, and, for a population, the distribution of cells across the cell cycle. The relationship between the DNA histogram and the cell cycle ...

In the last chapter we learned that deep neural networks are often much harder to train than shallow neural networks. That's unfortunate, since we have good reason to believe that if we could train deep nets they'd be much more powerful than shallow nets. But while the news from the last chapter is discouraging, we won't let it stop us.
