Terminology. In gretl parlance, a database is a (usually large) collection of series that may be of mixed frequencies and observation ranges. The data are stored in binary format, as single-precision "floats". You access such files via gretl's File/Databases menu. From there you can import selected series into gretl's workspace.

The Chow test, proposed by econometrician Gregory Chow in 1960, is a test of whether the true coefficients in two linear regressions on different data sets are equal. In econometrics, it is most commonly used in time series analysis to test for the presence of a structural break at a period which can be assumed to be known a priori (for instance, a major historical event such as a war).
